a selection of 44 papers out of the 163 presented at the translation studies congress which was held in celebration of the 50th anniversary of the institut für dolmetscher und Übersetzer ausbildung in vienna shows how translation studies is moving away from purely linguistic analysis into lsp psychology cognition and cultural orientations the volume is divided into sections reflecting the focal subject areas at the congress translation history and culture interpreting theory and training terminology and special languages teaching and training in translation also included are papers from a special workshop including interdisciplinary research projects from vienna of the articles 25 are written in english 16 in german and 3 in french based on a great deal of recent research performed by academics investigating works translated from into english this book provides fresh perspectives to the field of translation studies it combines theoretical and practical aspects of the translation process with a comprehensive set of thoroughly commented examples perspectives in translation studies is a structurally complex volume which is especially designed to cover insights into a wide range of british and american literary products novels short stories and poetry comparatively examines patterns of language use in english and other languages referring both to pairs of verbs and phraseological constructions collocations and idioms pre fabricated or ready made phrases and proverbs explores some of the globalization challenges in the translation of national films into english it is ideal for every person with an interest not only in the art or the making of a translation but also in the result of the translation process to go beyond the work of a leading intellectual is rarely an unambiguous tribute however when gideon toury founded descriptive translation studies as a research based discipline he laid down precisely that intellectual challenge not just to describe translation but to explain it through reference to wider relations that call offers at once a common base an open and multidirectional ambition and many good reasons for unambiguous tribute the authors brought together in this volume include key players in translation studies who have responded to toury s challenge in one way or another their diverse contributions address issues such as the sociology of translators contemporary changes in intercultural relations the fundamental problem of defining translations the nature of explanation and case studies including pseudotranslation in renaissance italy sherlock holmes in turkey and the coffee and sugar economy in brazil all acknowledge translation studies as a research based space for conceptual coherence and creativity all seek to explain as well as describe in this sense we believe that toury s call has been answered beyond expectations this book addresses the complexities of the translation process informed by theoretical and methodological advances in translation studies research on writing and the expertise paradigm it explores translation as a text reproduction task with triangulation of data from russian swedish translation think aloud methodology and computer logging of the writing process it makes a cross sectional comparison of subjects with different amounts of translation experience highlighting crucial aspects of professional competence and expertise in translation the book also elaborates a method for a combined product and process analysis applying it to the study of one type of explicitation increased cohesive explicitness of the target text the results have implications for translation theory and pedagogy this volume will be of interest to translation scholars and translator trainers irrespective of language combination as well as to specialists in russian and swedish it will also appeal to researchers on expertise in other domains the routledge handbook of translation studies provides a comprehensive state of the art account of the complex field of translation studies written by leading specialists from around the world this volume brings together authoritative original articles on pressing issues including the current status of the field and its interdisciplinary nature the problematic definition of the object of study the various theoretical frameworks the research methodologies available the handbook also includes discussion of the most recent theoretical descriptive and applied research as well as glimpses of future directions within the field and an extensive up to date bibliography the routledge handbook of translation studies is an indispensable resource for postgraduate students of translation studies translation studies presents an integrated concept based on the theory and practice of translation the author adapts linguistic approaches and methods in such a way that they may be usefully employed in the theory practice and analysis of literary translation the author develops a more cultural approach through text analysis and cross cultural communication studies the book is a contribution to the development of translation studies as a discipline in its own right this is an expanded and slightly revised version of the book of the same title which caused quite a stir when it was first published 1995 it thus reflects an additional step in an ongoing research project which was launched in the 1970s the main objective is to transcend the limitations of using descriptive methods as a mere ancillary tool and place a proper branch of dts at the very heart of the discipline between the theoretical and the applied branches throughout the book theoretical and methodological discussions are illustrated by an assortment of case studies the emphasis being on the need to take whatever one wishes to focus on within the contexts which are relevant to it part one discusses the pivotal position of the descriptive branch within translation studies and part two then outlines a detailed rationale for that positioning this in turn supplies a framework for the case studies comprising part three where a number of exemplary issues are analysed and contextualized texts and modes of translational behaviour are situated in their cultural setting and textual components are related to their texts and then also to the cultural constellations in which they are embedded all this leads to part four which asks what the knowledge accumulated through descriptive studies of the kind advocated in the book is likely to yield in terms of both the theoretical and the applied branches of the field all in all an innovative thought provoking book which no one with a keen interest in translation can afford to ignore presents the most important theories in translation studies that have emerged over the last 50 years particularly innovative is the inclusion of theories from outside north america and europe theoretical perspectives on recent technological developments and a consideration of the nature of theory in the field
